Respect and inclusion

So whatever you wish that others would do to you, do also to them, for this is the Law and the Prophets. – Matthew 7:12

Buddhism Treat not others in ways that you yourself would find hurtful. The Buddha, Udana-Varga 5.18

Confucianism One word which sums up the basis of all good conduct....loving-kindness. Do not do to others what you do not want done to yourself. Confucius, Analects 15.23

Hinduism This is the sum of duty: do not do to others what would cause pain if done to you. Mahabharata 5:1517

Islam Not one of you truly believes until you wish for others what you wish for yourself. The Prophet Muhammad, Hadith

Sikhism I am a stranger to no one; and no one is a stranger to me. Indeed, I am a friend to all. Guru Granth Sahib, p.1299 Taoism

Draw a line connecting the words to their definitions

Diversity	A right, freedom, or special benefit given to some people and not to others
Bullying	Something taken in as part of a whole unit
Inclusion	A setting where a variety of physical, social, and cultural traits coexist
Discrimination	To form a connection with a person or with an idea in ways that support that person or idea
Ally	Abuse and mistreatment by someone who holds more power or strength
Tolerance	To annoy or make fun of someone
Friend	Unfairly treating a person or group of people who are different from another person or group of people. Discrimination is often against the law.
Kindness	An idea a person may have about another person or group that is often untrue
Privilege	Sympathy for and/or acceptance of the feelings or habits of others
Teasing	Someone who has a strong liking for another person
Stereotype	An act of gentleness and thoughtfulness toward another person

Below is the United Church's position on inclusion from the United Church of Canada website. This is a great topic for discussion as a family. Does any of this surprise you? Have you had any experience with beliefs that are different than these?

The United Church prides itself on being open and welcoming as Jesus was, regardless of age, race, class, gender, orientation, or physical ability. Children, for example, aren't viewed as adults-in-waiting; they're full and welcome participants at the heart of each congregation, bringing ideas and unique talents that can inspire the entire church.

The United Church views the religious practice of all people of goodwill with respect and gratitude. We believe the Spirit of God is at work in many different faith communities. For Christians, Jesus is the way we know God. Our understanding is nonetheless limited by human imagination. God is greater still and works in our world by a mysterious Spirit that knows no distinction at the doorway of a Christian chapel; Buddhist, Hindu, or Sikh temple; Indigenous sweat lodge, Muslim mosque, or Jewish synagogue.
